

MAYRA RODRIGUEZ

Mayra Rodriguez is a former Planned Parenthood Center Director in Arizona who blew the whistle on egregious deficiencies and mismanagement at her affiliate. She worked for Planned Parenthood in Arizona for 17 years, rising to the position of managing several affiliates, and even received Planned Parenthood's Employee of the Year award in 2016. When she was abruptly fired in October 2017, she filed a wrongful termination lawsuit, claiming her employer unjustly fired her because she was reporting instances of critical safety and health-related violations.

International public speaker and prolife activist.

Mayra's goal today:

My goal is to use my experience acquired from 17 years working at Planned Parenthood and as a Reproductive rights activist to save lives, defend women, and live a life of service to God and our country. As an immigrant who has lived in this country for 29 years and is proud to be an American Citizen today, I take seriously the responsibility of every American to protect the values which for centuries have defined this great country. I have lived on the other side of the truth, and am very familiar with the agenda and machine driving Planned Parenthood and on the Left, and its predatory goal to destroy everything that we hold dear.

As a respected voice in the conservative Latino community, I am intimately aware of the problems facing our community including abortion, immigration, transgender 'health care' for children, care planning and prevention, corruption, NGOs and many other real-time and emerging issues.

Educating our community on the impact of liberal policies and politicians, and how they affect or support our values is more important than ever. Educating our community about politicians who defend family life and our freedom will not only change our country, but save it. ■
